

Investment Strategy for 2009-2012

Written by Ashok Kumara (Seattle, USA) on Feb 9, 2009

All these years you have invested in your LEFT BRAIN, creating an IDEA BASED REALITY. You have put all your energy CREATING your identity, your degrees, your career, your money, your family, your houses, your cars & gadgets, your duties & responsibilities, your diseases, your insurance companies, your doctors, your priests, your gurus and your gods. Yes, you ARE the creator of your complex life and you have been quite prolific! What is the resulting experience? FEAR! Fear is a product of duality. Fear creates constant worry about the future and guilt about the past. With so much fear, can you experience joy?

Right now you have a golden opportunity to invest in your RIGHT BRAIN and experiment with a FEELING BASED REALITY. In this reality, you create purely out of your passion and enchantment. In this reality you experience yourself as an integral part of the universal creative intelligence. SOHAM. You can clearly see your multi-dimensional self and your future possibilities in the present moment. There is no scope of fear in this reality.

In the past several hundred years, earth has been under the control of the left-brainers who are motivated by greed and control. These greedy rulers heavily promoted the idea of SCARCITY on this prosperous planet where energy and food are abundantly available. They have created fictitious electronic money and forced people to work hard to earn electronic money and COMPETE for the "scarce" resources. Their rule is coming to an end. The new earth will be ruled by the right-brainers who are motivated by harmony and freedom.

The year 2012 marks the end of the co-created Idea based earth-reality and the beginning of the co-created Feeling based earth-reality. During the transition process, there will be lot of chaos. Since nature is part of the co-created reality, it is also in the transition process. Every part of the nature will expand, celebrating its freedom. Expansion of water bodies will be the most tangible change on the surface of the earth.

It is the time to stop living with false hope. The economic system will continue to collapse. The downward swings will be much steeper than upward swings. Do you really trust the CEOs of the banks and brokerage companies? Haven't you realized that they have already taken half of your money? Haven't you realized that most of the bailout money will move into the hands of the same greedy people? How can you hope to get back your money?

It is wise to get out of the stock market and convert electronic money (including retirement funds) into tangible assets such as non-perishable food items and homes located on the solid parts of the earth away from water bodies. Examples of such locations are rocky mountains in Montana, Wyoming, Colorado and New Mexico; red-rock mountains in Utah and Arizona.

The current educational system is focused on the left brain, hence useless in the future. What training is appropriate for your kids during the transition? Your kids know the answer and you just need to listen to them.

Dear friends, it is the time for DEEP CONTEMPLATION. It is the time to get together as a community and figure out how to prepare for the transition.

YOU HAVE NO CHOICE BUT TO AWAKEN YOUR RIGHT BRAIN.
I rest my case. Om.
